Dear Nestor

I had an excellent flight back to London and now that I have recovered from the inevitable jet-lag I am writing to let you know how much I enjoyed working with you again.

Having missed last year because of my leg operation it was a very real pleasure to return to Macau for what I always regard as the most enjoyable meeting of the year in my busy commentating life. The ambiance is always excellent, the circuit is full of variety and challenge, the racing is invariably exciting and, this year, things were better than ever thanks to the fabulous new facilities. As you know I travel the world to talk about the Formula One Grands Prix so I see all their layouts and experience their advantages and disadvantages at first hand. I can say, in all truthfulness, that none are better than those now at Macau and very few are as good. Whoever was responsible for them deserves the highest praise.

→ From my point of view, however, of equal value is being able to work with you. Yours is an extremely demanding job - being responsible for so much coverage and co-ordinating the work of so many varied people over the four days of practice and racing, not to mention all the preparatory work and having, of necessity, to work with a lot of additional inexperienced staff. I am always, however, full of admiration for the calm and competent way you control things and your never-failing courtesy and cheerfulness makes you a real pleasure to work with.

Thank you for everything and I hope that our joint efforts this year were well received by your management - and, most importantly, the viewers. I now look forward to next year and to working with you again on what, I am sure, will be another very satisfying series of programmes.

My best wishes for Christmas and the New Year

Kind regards
